

Ad hoc communications group
Tuesday, Sept. 26 meeting
Written by Darin McCann

Our progress this month comes in the form of Helen writing the first piece for the Library Corner article that will appear in the Coastal Point next week. It is an insightful submission that really captures the comfort of the autumnal season, and that natural relationship between the season and getting yourself cozy with a great book. It is a fun read to get us going.

We'll be scheduling a meeting here soon to start putting together information on the newsletter and how we will divide the labor and fun!

I am unable to attend this Sept. 26 meeting because of a previously-committed event involving authors James Patterson and Mike Lupica down in Ocean City.
